WHY CARE ABOUT BATS?

- Bats eat huge numbers of insects
- It is estimated bats save US farmers upwards of $53 billion a year by eating insect pests

WHY WE NEED YOUR HELP

White-Nose Syndrome (WNS) is a fungal disease that has killed millions of bats in North America. The fungus that causes WNS was detected in Saskatchewan in 2021. This disease is a threat to our bats. To protect bats, we first have to find them.
We want to know if you have bats.

ABOUT US

We are a group of biologists studying the ecology and health of prairie bats. We work at the University of Saskatchewan, University of Regina, and University of Winnipeg.
